tration of violence. The mob forced the doors, and with a resistless rush, swept bank the spectators and guarde, and selzed and carried the negroout into the street. A rope was placed around Slayton's neck and he was dragged up Broad etreet, the crowd shouting at him as they went along. Near the bell tower they swung the negro up and perforated him with bullets.

After this the mob, as coolly and de-lihorately, as in the first inetance, went immediately to the court house, and overpowering the jailer, took Will Miles, a negro charged with assanting Mrs. Albright two years say, and marched him slowly to whore Sloyton's lifeless body was hanging from a tree. The trembling negro was made to look upon the fate of his brotherin crime, then a rope was placed about his neck and he was allowly suspended in the air and his hody riddled with bullots.

The badies of the negroes were left langing during the afternoon and a mass of luminatity was packed around the scene. The greaset excitement pravails here, especially among the negroes, and it is not improbable that further trouble will ensue.

Mrs. Bryan was assauted at Clapp's factory, four miles from here, early on Thursday morning. She is a young woman, not over 18 years of aga. He hasband had let home for Columbus about daybreak. Shortly after he left a negro untered Mrs. Bryan're private room and enceeded her struggles of neavail. He left her almost unconscious on the floor of her room. Regardless of her condition rendered her struggles of neavail. He left her almost unconscious on the floor of her room. Regardless of her condition, Mrs. Bryan reshed to the door and fired two pistol shots at the megro without avail. In a short time Mr. Bryan returned, and on being advised of the erimor unched immediately back to Columbus, and with the cherificand an armed pesse began to scour the woods for the negro, who was soon captured.

Fowler Ensign says:
If this is to be done by subscriptions If this is to be done by subscriptions and at the expense of the bicycle clubs, they will certainly be deserving of much praise. There is no possible chance for argument on the point of whether or not the bike path would be a gleendid thing, and would help to advertise our rountly but the number of pursons who ride bicycles, as compared with the number of persons who ride bicycles, as compared with the number of persons who ride bicycles, as compared with the number of persons who ride bicycles, as compared with the number of persons who do not, is so small that it it would certainly be unjust to take money out of the public treenry and use it for their special benefit. If the bike path is to be built on the sunny side of the road and shade trees planted along its side, it would be proper enough that the county should stand the expense of setting out and caring for them, for all could share the benefit slike.

But, contrasting the weather here day in and day out, season, throughout the year with the various kinds of undesirable weather experienced in the east and middle weat, we certainly are justified in bestowing praise in no stinted measure upon our meon-parable climate. Not only that, but it is a duty that we over the people of other states to information of this own section of the country them of this one section of the country by a productive soil and natural attractions, as it is here in the Santa Clara valley, we have a combination that is precious indeed.

We cannot praise our climate too highly or too often. Let us boom it every day in the year.

Birds of Faradise Without Legs.

The idea sprang from the practice of the natives of these islands where the bird is found, who, having a great demand for the feathers of this beautiful bird, exparted the skine, but first took off the legs as being of no use. The feathers were highly valued for their richness and elegance, and also for the invaluerability which they were supposed to center upon their wearers, the oriental chiefs whose turbans they adorned believing themselves to hear a charmed life in hatthe. A number of old writers stated that these birds were found with legs like other birds, but they argued in vain, and Aldrovandus necessed Pijafetta of falsehood in asserting that they had legs. As early as 1657 there were birds of paradise in Tradescant's unseam, "some with, some without, legs." Linnavas employed the term Apoda, not because, he shelved the fable, but because, be suys, the older naturalists called the hirds footless. For further information on this part of the subject see "Denny Cyclopedia," article "Bird of Paradise."

The present demand of these beautiful feathers is for the adornment of the last and bomets of modern ludies, and I am sorry to observe that the extinction of boyon to the construction of the first brief of paradiso and oaptry tipe. These are chiefly made up of the feathers of young birds, which are cheaper, the plumage of the male bird requiring several years for its development. The measure bird is mov scarce in New Guinet owing to the activity of skilled sharpshooters.—

A Carcless Post.

Dr. Johnson, a kindly critic, and Richard Savage's companion in many an all night wandering, allows him to have been nequalized with every form of debauchery. Certainly his knowledge of last century London must have been as extensive and peculiar as that of a partial relation of the streets homeless, sleeping among the ashea of glass houses, or in the street houself and peculiar properties and forgetting the sack, as prevariously as did a blind beggar. Oscillating between plenty and penuty, from lating between plenty and penury, from Lyreennel's mansion to a thickes' der Treennel's mansion to a thieves' den, and, according to report, equally at home in either, dining one day with his patron, the earl, the next with a duke—Duke Hamphrey—his clothes rotting on his shoulders, and without premonition of from where the next supply wantle come, yet with it all, Dr. Johnson puts on record, he presented a marvelous screnity. "His distresses, however afficitive, never dejected him. In his lowest state he wanted not spirit to assort the natural dignity of wit." His Macawberliku spirit probably savish him from suicide. He was always defermining to "commence a rigid economy and to live according to the exact rules of frugality, for nothing was more contemptible than a man who, whom he know his income, exceeded it."—Gentleman's Magnetine. leman's Magazine

PLATFORM AND MESOLUTIONS.
The Democratic party of Fresno county in convention assembled adopts the following declaration of principles: We reallirm our unbasken faith in the great principles of the fillustrious men, the states with of the republic and of the founders slike of the republic and of great principles of the republic and of the Democratic party—principles which embody the essential elements of civil tiberty and constitutional government. Excepting his funancial policy, we indorse and commend the administration of President Cleveland for the wisdom and firmness with which he has main-tained our relations with foreign countries, and for the homest, economical and patriotic manner in which the administration of our domestic aliairs has been conducted.

Resolved, That we heartily indorse the administration of our domestic aliairs has been conducted.

Resolved, That we heartily indorse the administration of four domestic aliairs has been conducted or to the details of his edical duties, the increased economy in the conduct of our state government brought about through his efforts, and the fearness and aggressive attitude he has always assumed on the side of the people whenever, through the inachinations of unscraphlous persons or corporations their rights were sought to be infringed upon.

The action of the Democratic majority unscripnious persons or corporations their rights wore sought to be infringed upon.

The action of the Democratic majority of the board of state railroad commissioners in their determined efforts to effect a material reduction in the rates of freights and fares charged by the Southern Pacific company deserves the support of all citizons of California regardless of their political affiliations, while the attitude of the Republican member of the board in opposing such efforts, representing as he does a portion of the state that has experienced more that any other the rations consequences of exorbitant freights and fares, should for all time braud him as a traiter to his constituents and an ensury to their best interests.

We are opposed to the funding of the debts of the Pacific railroads to the government of the United States, and denounce the hill researtly introduced in congress for that purpose by a Republican committee, sided and abstud by a Republican committee, sided and abstud by a Republican compression from California as being a scheme corrupt and unjust, connected by the railroad company, having for its object the rolloud are the direct results of the debanchery on their part of public morales and the results of the debanchery on their part of public morales and the vicinity of the people for the benefit of a state of the debanchery on their part of public morales and the vicinity of the people of the benefit of a state of the debanchery on their part of public morales and the vicinity of the people of the benefit of a state of the debanchery on their part of public morales and the vicinity of the people of the benefit of a state of the debanchery on their part of public condenses and the vicinity of the people of the debanchery on their part of public condenses and the vicinity of the people of the debanchery on their part of public condenses and the vicinity of the people of the debanchery on their part of public condenses and the vicinity of the people of the debanchery on their part of public conde ery on their part of public morate and trust the violation of public considence and trust. We compratible the country that the defeat of this nefarions scheme has been made possible and probable by the dauntless, the firm and patriolic stand against it by California's opresentatives in numeroes, Sensor White and Judge Maguine, and the courage and unyielding laterity at superb American and illustrious Democrat, Soustor John Morgan of Alabama.

We call the attention of all honest mun to the inconsistency and shallow pretense of the late Republican state convention, whose anti-railroad servor, after passing the anti-funding resolution, culminated in nominating Charles F. Crocker, vice-president of the Southern Pacific company, a presidential elector, and selecting Grove L. Johnson, C. P. Huntington's servile tool, a delegate to the Ropublican national convention.

We demound a untrue the charge of the Republican party that the linancial and business depression of the country is attributable to tariff laws passed by the Democratic party, when it is a matter of public knowledge that the financial panic came upon the country many months before the Dumocratic tariff law went into effect, said financial condition we charge as being the inevitable regult of long years of vicious class legislation on the part of the Republican party.

result of long years of vicious class legislation on the part of the Republican party.

Resulced, That we utterly disapprove of the present reckless, juesticient and custravagant administration of county inflairs. In a time of great financial depression, instead of curtailing and cutting down expenses in proportion to the falling off of business and the diminished ability of the people to pay, there has been a marked and altoguther unnecessary increase in the expense of running almost every branch of the county business. New places have been created for the benedit of political favorities, while a large number of useless deputies have been maintained in place at the expense of the already overburdened tarpayers.

The Democratic party favors and demands in the conducting of the county business the greatest economy compatibility of the county fundances the greatest economy compatibility of the county fundances the greatest economy compatibility of the county fundances.

Democrats Meet in County

Convention. GOLD ADVOCATES DEFEATED

Several Old Leaders in Back Scats No Supervisors Nominated. Notes of the Day.

The Democratic convention which as-sembled in this city yesterday, was a representative body of men, but there was a lack of anthusiasm which for-merly was always present at Demo-cratic conventions. Many old familiar faces were there, and a few which had beamed honefully in the Penalist con-The Democratic convention which as beamed hopefully in the Populist con-vention two years ago were back again in the Democratic fold, which fact carries out the doctrine of the beautiful old orthodox hymn that "while yet the lamp holds out to burn, the vitest sinner may return."

From a political point of view, the most vital question was, whether Clove-land and his finacial policy should be indorsed, or whether the convention should make known its disapproval of the gold doctrines of the Democratic President. The stand to be taken on this question depended upon whether the pold men or the silver men ainciding the sing these lines, but it was estited for the most part, before the convention seembled. The work on chairman was proof of that. The gold men had claimed nearly everything, but the test on the chairmanehip showed flast the silverites had more than two-thirds. They proved to be much better organized than had been supposed. They had held a meeting in the office of Judge M. K. Harris, where they had gotten their forces in line. At 10.30 Tr. W. T. Maupin, chairman of the county central committee, called the convention to order. On motion of W. D. Orichton, seconded by W. D. Foote, the reading of the sail for the convention was dispensed with. Chairman Maupin then announced that nominations for temporary chairman were in order. E. D. Edwarde was nominated by James A. Burns of Selms, "I rise to place in nomination," said Mr. Burns, "a gentleman well known and well worthy of the honor of the position of chairman of this convention. The second will be a candidate. He is suquenited with almost every delegate, and he will be fully qualified to select the representative committees. Fartherman, I betieve in rewarding the faithful. Often Mr. Edwards has been defeated at the nominating conventions at the hunds of the Democracy. But we have always een him feterwards fighting at the polic for the mon numinated at the convention.

"Again, what we all most desire the services have the representation." most vital question was, whether Cleve-land and his tinecial policy should be

John E. Kirk of Peoria, Ili., a brother of School Superlatendent T. J. Kirk, sent a long latter to the board, specifically charging that the Valley road had made use of the voice of members of the heard to promote its own interests in the matter of a right of way through lands belonging to him (Kirk) on the pelition of J. O. Cooper and others. The writer offered a free right of way through the section releared to (east half of southeast quarter of section 10, township 14, range 20—being just south of Freeno) provided it should not be used for railroad purposes. He claimed that such use would damage his property to many thousands of dollars. Action on the matter was cheired.

After some discussion it was decided to employ Thomas at a per diem of $2.50 to unload the rock, with the aid of the work would not take more than one or two days, Garrett them moved and Letcher seconded that, subject only to the temporary engagement referred to, the services of Thomas be dispensed with. The motion was carried by unanimum votes.

A handsome bronze medul and dit loma from the Obicago World's Exposition for two Fresno exhibits of dried fruit was received by the board. The diploma and medal will be sent to the museum of the Chamber of Commoros. The nutlier was directed to draw a warrant in layor of Supervisor Garrett for $9.80, amount advanced by him to purchase a ticket to Santa Cruz for a county indicent.

THE FABIAN RECITAL.

Large and Well Pleased Audience at Armory Hall.

Fresno society turned out on massa ast evening to hear Prof. Benjamin W. Fabian, the pinnist, play classical music at Armory hall. The audience numbered about 900, and those who had doubts concerning Mr. Fabian's ability ae a pianist, removed them ufter bear ing his artistic rendering of his difficult ing his artistic rendering of his difficult program.

The Prolessor opened with Kullak's wrist study, which was played with a delicate touch. Rail's "Spanish Caprice'' is a popular composition, having so many little melotices with florid variations, and ends with a grand climax which evoked the first outburst of certhnoisem from the nudience. The scale stude, by C. Mayer, was well phrased and delicately executed.

The Lorelery by Seeling, rapresents the traditional mermaid sitting on a rock in the river Rhine singing to the sailors, who become enchanted at the beautiful melody, and unfortunately are so enchanted as to be lured into the whirlpool around her.

The Makek Key stude is becoming a

The Black Key ctude is becoming a favorite number to Freeno. This compastion and the "Bridal Procession," by E. Grieg, which followed, were well received. The Echerzo, by F. Mendellsohn, was a good example of finger stactococh, and showed the originality and individuality of the great composer. Chopin's achieve in B flat minor was Pablan's greatest triumph. This composition is the one in which Padersewki excels all other pianists. It is a massive work, and by unmerous climaxes transports the hearers to diszy heights. Mr. Fablan was recalled, and responded with his well known composition, "The Passo Munkyes Republican Mr. Fablan was recalled, and responded with which was enthusiatically received.

"Pasquinalid" was played beautifully, as well as Liet's "Ripoletto," which gave the audience opportunity to measure the professor's technics. "Narcisms," a composition that sasems never to grow ald, was played most correctly. The Schmann numbers are as hard for some to spreciale as they are as onthusiastically admired by others.

The remainder of the program, Chopin's Ballade and Listz's "Eriking," were encored, which showed that the andlence did not tire from start to finish.

In the Recorder's Court. The following cases were called yes-terday in Recorder Clark's court: Mike Kelly, disturbing the peace, ten days in jail. M. E. Motley pleaded not days in jail. M. E. Motley pleaded not guilty to a charge of petty larreny, and the date of the trial has not been set. I. D. Baldwin was found guilty of drunkcnness and was floated. John Brown was found guilty of smoking optum and was fined $10. Ah Iling was before the court on a charge of maintaining an optum joint and was released on $250 bail.
